

24 Nights of Whisky

One dram a night, written down properly

BEFORE NIGHT ONE

- Print the six card sheets and cut along the dashed lines. Twenty-four cards, four per page.
- Print the tracker once and put it somewhere you'll actually see it - the whole point is watching the month fill in.
- Keep the flavor wheel next to the glass, not in a drawer.

EACH NIGHT

- Grab that night's numbered card before you open the door. Most calendars keep the dram a mystery, so the guess only works if the card comes first.
- Guess blind. Pour, nose, taste, then commit to a region and an age on the card. Only then read the label and fill in the reveal.
- Nose it with your mouth slightly open. Most calendar drams run cask strength or close to it.
- Add a few drops of water partway through and note whether it opened up. On a 30ml dram you get exactly one chance at this.

SCORING

- Five circles, fill as many as it earns. Resist scoring everything a four - the spread is what makes the tracker worth reading in January.
- "Full bottle? Y / N" is the only question that really matters. Circle it honestly.

AT THE END

- Transfer each night's name and score to the tracker as you go, not all at once on the 24th.
- Fill in your top five on the tracker. That list is your buying list for next year.
- Keep the cards. Next December you'll want to know what past-you thought.

WHICH CALENDARS THIS FITS

Built around the standard 24 × 30ml format, so it works with Drinks by the Dram, Secret Spirits, Flaviar, The Whisky Exchange, and the supermarket calendars. Scotch, bourbon, Irish, Japanese or world whisky - the cards don't assume a category.

Also fine for a 12-day calendar: use cards 01-12 and ignore the rest.

DON'T HAVE A CALENDAR YET?

This is a printable companion only - we don't sell or ship alcohol. Need a calendar first? Flaviar, Whisky Marketplace USA, and Really Good Whisky Co. all ship whisky advent calendars, including Scotch-only and Japanese sets, to most U.S. states - confirm shipping to your state before buying.

IF YOU'RE SHARING

Print a second set per person and compare before the reveal. Two people rarely guess the same region, and that argument is the best part of the night.

TOP FIVE OF THE MONTH

Your buying list for next year. Start from the nights you circled Y.

01	02	03	04	05

Put a Word to It

Start at the center tier, work outward for something more specific.

Using the wheel: taste first, then find the inner-ring category that fits - Sweet, Smoky, Fruity, and so on. From there work outward to the specific note. Two words per card is plenty; you are building a vocabulary over twenty-four nights, not writing a review.
